Powerleveled by their guild to legendary? Aww, where's the fun in that? The idea someone can make legendary without earning the experience themselves ruins the achievement of the title for me, sorry!

Oh dear. Sounds like a powerlevel job to me, which ruins the power of the title. Too bad

You really need to sweat blood for a title like this, so it's too bad you can leech it off your guildmates at a safe distance - am I right?

That would be a hollow title.

I think the ultimate guild achievement would be if you had a guild group ALL shooting for legendary at the same time - that would be psycho and worth a mountain of kudos!

If this is the case, then good luck!

Credit to all the people who do survivor titles and actually take risks, good stuffs

I was 13k experience away from getting the title on an assassin, but then I over aggro'd a mob of Jade Brotherhood (hate those Fcukers), lagged up pretty bad and noticed I was dead.

I deleted my assassin about an hour later.

god, you guys must leave in a middle of the mission if you are about to die. Don't want any monks going for this title.

No, actually I prefer henchmen. Since you know all the skills that they have and you can depend on them; plus they won't go out and aggro everything in an attempt to make you die.

Xp is too easy to get now!!! 5k a skill cap???? come on!!!!! Xp scrolls were bad enough.... faction farming easy quests.. faction quests get you anywhere's from 2k-10k xp... some of these quests give just as much xp as doing a UW or FoW quest. so Xp is too readily available if you ask me...

I just wish there was some way to allow pre-existing characters the ability to earn the title... cause I really don't want to remake my mesmer and ranger... but it is butt easy to earn the first level of the title.
